AIR RIFLE PROGRAM CONTINUES: The air rifle program at WAC-IWLA is a joint venture between the Seneca Valley Sporting Association and the Wildlife Achievement Chapter - IWLA. The air rifles, target backstops, lights, safety glasses, and other equipment, are furnished by the SVSA and the space for the air rifle range and storage and promotional support are provided by WAC.

The instructional portion of the program included three sessions of eight hours each offered during October, January and March. A total of 30 participants completed these three classes - 28 were youth and 2 were parents of participants. The participants received the NRA Junior Olympic Pro-Marksman Award. Six of the juniors continued shooting in the Tuesday evening group.

The Tuesday evening group was a combination of beginning junior shooters, advanced junior shooters, and adults. The juniors fired air rifles and the adults fired both air pistols and some air rifles. There were 11 junior shooters and 6 adults in regular attendance. The junior shooters continued to develop their marksmanship skill in the four positions. They participated in three shoulder-to-shoulder matches and several postal matches during the shooting season. One of the junior teams was the 2nd place team in the Montgomery County Air Rifle Match. Amy Roberts, a junior shooter with the Damascus Air Rifle Club, was the regional winner in the American Legion Three Position Precision Air Rifle Match and was in the top twelve scorers in the second round of the nationwide competition. She will attend the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colorado, in June to fire in the final championship match of this tournament.

Several DARC matches were held and the winners of those are as follows:
PISTOL - 1st, Jack Roberts; 2nd, Steve Demosky; 3rd, Bill Carbone

PRONE RIFLE - 1st, Chris Sekelsky; 2nd, David Barger; 3rd, Brent Turner

OFFHAND RIFLE - 1st, Amy Roberts; 2nd, Bridget Demosky; 3rd, Meghan Mahone
